Dear Mark:

Bravo! Thank you so very much for your participation in our recent grand openings of the Las Cruces and Roswell offices.

Your presentation of "The National Anthem" in both story and song was what are guests have been talking about. I am still hearing from many of them about how much they enjoyed your oratory; many of us didn't realize there is more than one verse to the song.

What I enjoyed most was your thoughtful way of proposing that the lyrics are simply a question. This provided all of us a different way to hear the song that we've never heard before. I thought of you when I heard "The National Anthem" before the recent Super Bowl, and I'm sure that whomever has the opportunity to hear your presentation will also have a new perspective.

Please offer this letter as encouragement for any group, organization, or school to use your talents by scheduling an appearance. Again, thank you for making our recent events successful.

Sincerely,
